Magistrates Take a Stand Against Autopsies in Fiscal Court

OBJECT TO PAYING $5. TWO PEOPLE WERE KILLED

Several Claims Allowed in Fiscal Court Today and Yesterday Afternoon—Small Pox Claims.

A NEW FILL WAS AUTHORIZED.

Fiscal court has placed a ban upon autopsies. It has decided that autopsies are usually unnecessary in McCracken county. This morning Coroner Phelps, who has been ill for the past several weeks, was dragged on the carpet and it is probable will order no more autopsies in the future.

A bill for $5 from County Physician Pendley was in for discussion, and there was strong disposition not to pay it. The bill was for holding autopsies ordered by the coroner, the records showing that there have been eight held since the last term of court in April.

After an exhaustive discussion the board decided to pay the bill, but stated emphatically that it wouldn't stand for any more, or at least except when necessary. One of the eight autopsies was performed by Dr. Graves who was allowed $5 for it.

Undertaker M. Nance was allowed $10 for pauper burials.

Justice Jesse Young was allowed $26 for acting as county judge during the interim from the death of County Judge Tully until Judge Emery was appointed.

This afternoon the claims of the city for smallpox expenses will be taken up and probably as usual, refused. The county may pay for the six county patients the city took care of, but if the several thousand dollars additional are paid, it will be only after all the courts have decided so.

Yesterday afternoon County Judge Emery was authorized to borrow $6,000 to further prosecute the county road work. Justices Barber and Young were opposed to the county's borrowing any more money than $8,000, but they were voted down.

Supervisor Bert Johnson was instructed to build a fill in place of the bridge beyond Clark's river. The cost will be about $2,000.

Justice Hocker was authorized to close a deal with G. W. Simmons selling a gravel pit of one and one-half acres. Mr. Simmons to pay the county in gravel at the rate of five cents per square yard.

Back Tax Collector G. T. Thornberry reported the collection of $369 back tax of which the county received $184.50.

Dr. Frank Boyd was allowed $150 and Dr. H. T. Rivers $50 for attention in county smallpox cases.

Miscellaneous bills amounting to over $2,000 were allowed.

In the referred case where Contractor W. D. Melton, who wanted the balance, $65, for work he had done on the Woodville and New Liberty road, Squire Hocker and County Attorney Graves reported the road in good condition and the allowance was made.

The officers were allowed their salaries and court adjourned until this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The afternoon session will be short and at its adjournment Judge Emery will take up the case of Frank Biffle, charged with criminally assaulting Addie Gerry.

YACHT CAPSIZES.

FIVE PERISHED IN THE WATERS AS A RESULT TODAY.

New Haven, Conn., July 19.—The yacht Venecia capsized in Long Island Sound today and Author Colburn, the Philadelphia millionaire, his two daughters and two of the crew perished.

An Operator's Mistake Proves Costly on the L. & N. Last Night

Freight Trains Collided Near Nortonville—Supt. Wallace Here—L. C. Backing Grand Rivers Enterprise.

TODAY'S NEWS OF THE RAILROADS

There was a disastrous wreck on the L. & N. between Nortonville and Earlington last night about 8 o'clock. Two freight trains met in a head-on collision and many cars were demolished.

A white brakeman named Corbett and a tramp were killed, but so far as is known no one was hurt.

The wreck is said to be due to the mistake of an operator in delivering orders.

Supt. H. U. Wallace, of Louisville division, is at the Palmer today. He is in the city on business and was a caller at Mayor Lang's office today to look after the mutual interests of the company and the city.

It is claimed in dispatches from Chicago that the Illinois Central is behind the move to develop the iron and coal lands of this section, and that it is backing Messrs. John W. Harrison and E. C. Simmons and Tom Scott, of St. Louis. It is claimed that the Grand Rivers and Hillman furnaces are not the only ones to be operated by the company, and that everything will be done on a lavish scale.

The Illinois Central will soon put in operation an electric light plant which will illuminate its entire right of way in the city of Chicago at night and also its main line for thirty miles out of Chicago. The lamps will be close together and it is expected the right of way will be light during the night as in the day time. The wires for lighting are laid in cables in stoneware conduits under ground.

Mr. C. W. Titus, traveling auditor of the Illinois Central was in the city yesterday.

Mr. A. D. Brooks, superintendent of the water supply of the Illinois Central, returned home to Central City today at noon after a brief visit to this city.

MRS. READ DEAD.

WELL KNOWN LADY SUCCUMBS AFTER A LONG ILLNESS.

Mrs. M. J. Read died this morning shortly before noon at her residence 234 North Eighth street. She had been ill for the past several weeks but was improving up to Monday when she suffered a relapse and this morning passed away. She leaves seven children, Messrs. Alex, Bell, Will, Charles, Victor, Ed and Mrs. Effie Fields, besides many relatives residing in this city. She was 59 years of age at her death and had been a lifelong resident of this city. The deceased was a member of the Baptist church and during her life was a diligent church worker. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made but will probably be held Sunday afternoon at Oak Grove.

THE TEMPERATURE GOES UP AGAIN—NO PROMISE OF RAIN.

The temperature went to 102 this afternoon, and last night and today the heat seems to have been more than on days when it was really warmer. It was a sultry heat, and has made a rain all the more necessary and desired. The weather predictions are fair and continued warmer.

The lowest registered today was early this morning when the mercury took a drop to 75.

Light rains visited the following places today: Maysville, Owingsboro, St. John and Greensburg.

ALLEGED MURDERER FATALLY HURT ON THE RAIL-ROAD.

The linemen sent out by Supt. Joynes of the Cumberland, to work on the long distance line between Paducah and Princeton, have reached Stiles, about six miles above. They make about a quarter of a mile a day.

SWIFT RETRIBUTION.

BELLE MILLER DIDN'T KNOW FOR CERTAIN THAT SHE WAS SHOT.

Belle Miller, colored, appeared before Judge Sanders this morning and swore out a warrant against her husband, Will Miller, who is alleged to have maliciously shot her in the head night before last because she wouldn't shake hands with him when he announced his determination to leave her forever. The warrant charges him with maliciously shooting her.

When she was asked by a reporter if her husband hit her with a club as reported or shot her, she replied: "Well, now, of twah a club, hit made a mighty loud noise, sho."

"Yes," sarcastically observed Judge Sanders, "of course clubs are in the habit of going off like that!"

The warrant charges Miller with maliciously shooting just the same. Miller is honest.

THE GRAHAMVILLE LOSS.

The loss of the store owned by Mr. Z. C. Graham of Grahamville, was settled this morning. The stock was damaged to the extent of $8,600 and the building $1,000. Adjustor Dugan is today settling the Sam Liebel loss.

ANOTHER GONE WRONG.

WITNESS AGAINST CALEB POWERS HAS TEACHERS CERTIFICATE REVOKED.

Barbourville, July 19.—Sudie Snuffer, one of the witnesses against Caleb Powers, had her teacher's certificate revoked because of an alleged attempt to bribe trustees.

THE GOVERNOR'S PARDONS.

The Somerset Republican says in commenting on Gov. Beckham's recent outrages pardons:

Mr. Beckham has pardoned five

Democrats of Pike county for shooting Republicans. The petition was signed almost, if not altogether, by Democrats.

Thus a lot of Democrats clear

Democrats of crime with as much unanimity of feeling as a Democratic court and a Democratic jury convicted

Republicans of murder without testimony, and it's so easily done.

The London Mountain Echo expresses this view of Beckham's infamy:

It is a terrible thing in the eyes of

Gov. Beckham for a Goebelite to be indicted by a Republican grand jury and tried and convicted before a Republican judge, but judging by his association and actions it is all right for a Republican, who has been robbed of an office to which he was honestly and fairly elected, to not only be indicted, but tried by a jury composed entirely of Democrats, selected for that purpose, and tried before a court whose rulings were so prejudicial to the defendant as to be denounced as such by the unanimous voice of the highest court in the land, nearly half of whom possess the same political bias the trial judge does.

ELLIS GLENN HAS NO SCAR.

STATE'S WITNESSES HAD TESTI-

FIED THAT BERT GLENN

HAD SCARS.

Parkersburg, W. Va., July 19.—The trial of Ellis, alias Elbert B. Glenn, for forgery, continues to drag wear-ingly along. The state, believing that it has satisfactorily proved that the woman at bar of the court is the same person as Elbert B. Glenn, who masqueraded as a man successfully for several years, is now confining itself to testimony tending to show that a forgery was committed by which Will Liam Richardson was swindled and that the accused did it.

Most of the witnesses that have testified yesterday and today were alleged handwriting experts, bankers, postal clerks and people engaged in work where they have an opportunity to study orthography.

Tomorrow the witnesses for the defense state that they will diminish half the case the state has made by proving that Ellis Glenn has no scar on her head or on the palm of the left hand. The state, believing that it has satisfactorily proved that the

person as Elbert B. Glenn, who mas-

queraded as a man successfully for

several years, is now confining itself

Elliott Glenn will be the most important witness for herself. She will maintain that she is the twin sister of Bert Glenn, and that it was he who did the crime, if any was done; that she does not know where he is, and that her arrest was a case of mistaken identity.

Tomorrow Judge Stapleton will rendier his decision on another important motion that was made by Glenn's attorneys, and argued today for several hours. Judge McClure, for the defense, stated that the deed of trust did not correspond with the allegation in the indictment. The proof must consider forger, while the name in the deed of trust is E. B. "Glenn," therefore vitiating the indictment.

THE LAND OF MAKE BELIEVE.
To the gates of Dawn, how gladly
Would the grayheads all come back,
And, among the little children,
For a while forget the rack!
How their puzzled eyes would brighten,
How their hearts beat,
Could they one by one be
In the Land of Make Believe!

What treasures that a Crossus Has amassed can equal those
That before the gaze of childhood,
As by magic, once arose?
All the world over, there will be,
All possess what they perceive—
To life's largess there's no limit
In the Land of Make Believe!

What a land it is to live in,
Where a palace is as the ²
As a hotel—where the littlest
May with giant strides overleap High, bright heights! The bringing knowledge edge!

How the flying years bereave
Us of all our happy dwellings
In the Land of Make Believe!

Still so curious is the human E'en in th' dhoob—soft he goes
For outside Joy's sphere, a-weeping

For the one that's born a poet,
Tho' he knows not why, must grieve
Over the tears that fall outside
The bright Land of Make Believe!

"Good!"
Then to dramatize the second magazine article.
"Excellent! Excellent!"
"And then to write?"
"Oh! I understand the scheme! Fine program—if the public will stand for it!"

Mr. W. G. Whitefield, who for many years has resided at Seventh and Court streets, found in looking over some old papers yesterday, that the pavement in front of his residence when it was built many years ago cost him $125 per lineal foot. This is about four times what it costs now.

Speaking of stage "asides," Tid-Bits tells the following:

Fanny Kemble once gave a most amusing instance of the extent to which "stage whispering" may be carried on unknown to the audience. It was in a well known theater and "Romeo and Juliet" was the play.

Romeo was at the words, stage version, not Shakespeare. "Quick let me snatch thee to thy Romeo's arms" when he pounced upon her and lifting her up bodily staggered down the stage.

"Let me go!" she whispered "you've got me up horribly; let me down" but all in vain. The climax came at the passage "Tear not my heart strings thus; they break, they crack, Juliet" still the stage version, when—

Juliet, to corpse: "Am I smothering you?"

Corpse: "Not at all; but could you, do you think, be so kind as to put my wig on again for me?—it is falling off."

Juliet, to corpse: "I am afraid I can not; but I'll throw my muslin veil over it. You have broken the wial, have you?"

Corpse: "No, indeed."

Juliet: "Where's the dagger?"

Corpse: "Put my soul, I don't know."

All these "asides" went on unknown to the audience in the very crisis of the tragedy.

I never make any weather predictions," said an old citizen yesterday, "because I don't take any stock in them, especially those so far ahead. You know the old saying, 'the wind bloweth where it listeth.' Well, it does. The wind is one of the few things that seems to do as it pleases. Everything else in nature, almost, is governed by invariable laws. Astronomers can calculate the eclipses years in advance, and have reasonable assurance that they will come off on schedule time, and they can tell you years ahead whether the moon will be on the 'pint' or 'on its back' at a certain time. But they can't tell you anything about the wind, and the wind usually has a great deal to do with the weather.

Nearly everything inanimate in nature is governed by inexorable law, but the wind is a free agent, and sometimes pretty d—free. After it starts we can often tell which way it is going, and where it will go, and if it doesn't change its mind, it will probably fulfill our predictions, but very often we can't even tell anything about it. So I don't think the weather is anything to fool with, and decline to say whether the river will freeze over next winter or not."

Well, his friends regarded this as a good omen. Good speakers always made a failure the first time, they told him, and next time he would surely do better. He was no doubt destined to be a great speaker. So finally Ned consented to give it another try and announced that he would make his second appearance the following Tom's day.

So the hosts gathered again and Ned was there for another trial. He got up announced his text—and gave them another bad half hour. He couldn't say a thing. Some of his friends stuck to him but others were uncharitable enough to say that his call to preach was a phony article and not to be depended on. Even Ned himself was disgusted, and began to doubt the genuineness of the call. He thought he had burdened himself with a gold brick.

But the third time was to be a charm, his friends insisted. He would make a better preacher than even their most sanguine hopes had anticipated. Having made two well developed failures, he was sure of ultimate success.

But Ned was obstinate and said he didn't care for any more failures. They insisted and finally he said he'd try again and if he made another failure the people could go to h—l and be damned." The people didn't know whether to take this language as simply the license of a preacher or as a profane expression of indifference and quite a discussion arose over it."

The judge closed his eyes and smiled grimly.

"Well how about the third trial?" asked the reporter.

"Oh!" quietly rejoined the judge "I don't think there was anybody there."

And the result of Ned's third trial is forever lost somewhere back in the obscure annals of the foothills of Tennessee.

The modern writers' program, according to Puck, is exemplified in the following:

"My idea," said the ambitious young author, "is to write a historical novel."

"Yes!"

"And, of course, a magazine article showing how I came to write the historical novel."

"Yes?"

"Then to dramatize the historical novel."
